

Effort to Cut Solar Cost Pits Makers of Boxes of Wires

by Chris Martin

Excerpt from Bloomberg Business, November 3, 2015

Seen prices for solar panels lately? Sure, they've plunged two-thirds in the past five years, but the rate of decline has leveled off -- in the past 18 months they're down just 5.1 percent.

That's why solar companies are looking at ... and ... to help them wring more costs out of the electronic gadgetry that drives rooftop power systems.

....

.... of its market value this year through Monday, the most in the WilderHill New Energy Global Innovation Index of 105 clean energy companies.

.....

Read more: <http://www.bloomberg.com/news/articles/2015-11-03/contest-to-cut-solar-cost-pits-companies-building-boxes-of-wires>